Graduate Student Research Fellowship

The Graduate Student Research Fellowship is intended to assist graduate students in architectural history or historic preservation in their thesis or dissertation work. The Fellowship awards $1000 to offset research-related expenses and travel.

Criteria for the Graduate Student Research Fellowship are:

- Applicants must be members of SESAHA.
- Applicants must be enrolled in a Masters or PhD program in architectural history or historic preservation, or a similar program, at a college or university located in the twelve-state geographic region embraced by SESAHA. (Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia).
- All applications will be considered, but preference will be given to applicants whose thesis or dissertation topics explore the architectural history of the SESAHA geographic region.
- Recipients must submit a report on the use of the funds within one year of receiving the fellowship. They are also encouraged to present their research as part of the annual SESAHA conference and to submit their research for publication in ARRIS.
- Recipients should acknowledge the fellowship in their completed thesis or dissertation.

Fellowship applications should include the following materials:

- Statement (not to exceed one page, typed and double-spaced) describing the research topic/objective.
- Proposed Budget to include research-related costs such as travel expenses to libraries, archives or research sites and archival/research fees: copies, photographs, &c.
- Curriculum vitae.
- Letter of recommendation from a faculty advisor or principal professor. Please provide contact information (name, email address, telephone number) for the referring faculty.

Applications may be submitted by e-mail attachment to Lee Gray (legray@uncc.edu), no later than December 15. Incomplete applications will not be considered.
